Individual result rows	PASS - expected behavior observed	FAIL - defect or unexpected behavior	SKIP - safely not executed	Results reported

131 of 131 result rows reported · pytest exit code 1

A FAIL is not automatically a problem with the automation. It can be a real store defect, for example a link returning HTTP 404. Test-engine or browser errors are recorded with their own details so they can be separated from storefront defects.

Scope

Section 01 - Main Page: Homepage navigation, cart entry and return, product cards, collection links, footer links, policies, FAQ, and every currency option discovered in the currency selector.

Section 02 - T-shirt Collection: Open the T-shirt collection, open each product from its collection card, and click each available size option. No product-gallery images are clicked. No items are added to the cart and no checkout is submitted.

Section 03 - Mug Collection: Open the mug collection, open each product from its collection card, and click each available size or capacity option. No product-gallery images are clicked. A mug with no selectable size/capacity option is reported as SKIP for that sub-check. No items are added to the cart and no checkout is submitted.

Section 04 - Cart: Add three fixed test products in an isolated browser context, verify cart contents and subtotal, increase quantity from one to two, verify subtotal recalculation, remove a product, verify the subtotal decrease, open checkout only to confirm the next step loads, then empty the test cart. No order or payment is submitted.

This is one unified report for all test sections executed in sequence. Individual checks are grouped under their section heading below; the section summary above shows the result totals for each module. The cart workflow does not submit an order or perform a payment. Product workflows open each distinct product once and click selectable size/capacity options on that same product page.
